

RECKLESS DRIVING UNDER DISCUSSION

President of A. A. A. Suggests Licenses for Drivers As Remedy.

By HARRY WARD.

In order to keep down reckless driving, President L. R. Spears, of the American Automobile Association, has suggested that all drivers be licensed. "There may be differences of opinion as to the examinations required, if any," says Mr. Spears, "but it seems to me there can be no difference of opinion as to the expediency of every driver being licensed, which license should be revocable by the proper State authorities on evidence of reckless driving. To the hired chauffeur this means that he must drive carefully or lose his means of livelihood, and to the private owner it means that he must drive carefully or lose the privilege of driving at all. In Massachusetts the operator of a public car pays strict attention to any request of his passenger which would in any way affect his method of driving. Why? Because he knows that he is in danger of having his license revoked on the complaint of his passenger if he does not operate in a careful manner."

In a recent discussion covering the part of an automobile on which most depended, H. O. Smith, president of the Premier Motor Manufacturing Company, claimed that the most important part of a car was the motor, which is generally overlooked, namely, the brakes. A prospective buyer will make the deepest study of the motor, ignition system, carburetion, transmission, etc., but hardly 10 per cent of automobile buyers pay attention to the efficiency of the braking system in use. Yet it is the factor which they are interested in. To the factory, the brakes are a source of constant study. The Premier company worked for years perfecting its braking system, entering its cars in every tour of any consequence, and sending an expert along to study the brake question. To a car quickly on the road or on a crowded thoroughfare, it is to hold it securely on a dangerous hill or to stop absolutely necessary, and may mean the saving of life and limb. Taking it from any point of view, a great deal depends on the efficiency of the brakes.

During the two automobile shows to be held next week in New York, one member from the Licensed Association of Automobile Manufacturers and one from the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association will be given the much prized privilege of exhibiting a car in the Motor Show, which is the drawing for the privilege took place Monday, and the Premier won the privilege for the Police show, while a Chalmers-Detroit will be on view during the Madison Square Garden exhibition.

J. E. Connelly has succeeded R. A. Klock as general manager of the Dupont Garage Company. Mr. Klock is now associated with the Chalmers-Detroit firm, and Mr. Connelly is in charge of the Dupont Garage Company, which is a well-known business in the city. Mr. Connelly is a native of the city and has some new ideas he will put into effect at the Dupont garage. A number of improvements in the garage are planned.

Joe Matson, the popular racing driver, who piloted the Chalmers-Detroit car throughout the Frank A. Munsey reliability tour, has been given two choice lots at the Madison Square Garden exhibition. In recognition of his splendid victory in the Matson trophy race that formed a part of this year's Vanderbilt tour, he is winning the event with a Chalmers-Detroit "20" Matson set a new world record for speed for light cars.

The Motor Sales Company has been advised that the Roca & Lang Company, makers of the popular electric auto of that name, have increased their capital stock from $250,000 to $1,000,000. Five large additions have been made to the plant in Cleveland, and it is expected with this extra capital and floor space that the 1910 output will be increased materially.

H. E. McNichols arrived in the city yesterday from East Liverpool, Ohio, having driven a road in a Thorpe car. He found the roads generally in good condition. After spending a few hours in the city, he will return to his home in Baltimore.

Motorcycle vans are gradually augmenting the delivery system of Washington business houses. The latest firm to secure one of these machines is the Rudolph & Powell Company, which has purchased a Reading-Standard van from T. N. Mudd, Jr.

B. R. Johnson, general manager of the automobile show to be given by the Washington dealers during the week beginning January 24, was in the city yesterday and opened show headquarters at 1213 New York avenue.

The Commercial Automobile and Supply Company reports the sale of a Studebaker E-M-P touring car to J. J. McGinn.
